

Week Beginning February 3rd

This half-term our topic is; 'Once upon a time...'

Literacy

We will be reading "The Gingerbread Man" this week. Our writing this week will be focusing on the speech that the characters say in the story. We will be writing speech bubbles for the characters to retell the story. In phonics sessions we will be practising all previously learned letters and sounds and introducing the digraphs ow and oi and the trigraph ear. We will be reading and spelling lots of words and captions using our new sounds, working with our whiteboard partners, singing our alphabet song and playing our 'full circle' game.

Mathematics

In our session this week we will be using objects and number lines to help us work out addition equations and we will practise recording our findings in simple ways.

Understanding the World

We will be carrying out an experiment this week, observing the changes that occur when a gingerbread man is added to water. We will be looking closely and thinking of scientific works to describe the changes.
