

Honey, I shrunk the kids!

Dad's home science experiment had gone horribly wrong! He had zapped the kids in the garden with his new ELECTROZORB TASTIC LASERJET-BRAIN-GUN, which was supposed to make his three children the smartest children in the entire world. Instead, the zap had back-fired, making Dad even more brainy, but the children...Extremely tiny!

Stood in the middle of the garden path, they suddenly found themselves running as fast as they could away from a rolling pebble (which was actually tiny, but now seemed as big as a house)...

Writing Week Commencing 22.6.20

Task 1

- What noise do you think the rock might be making as it rolls?
How many verbs and adverbs can you think of?
- How would you feel if you had been shrunk?
- What obstacles/creatures might you find while you are tiny? Can you write a description to explain how different it looks when you are so small? You could get someone to guess what it is that you have described.

Task 2

Carefully read the sentence below.

Stood on the gravelly garden path, they suddenly found themselves running quickly to escape the rolling pebble.

Highlight the nouns in blue, the adjectives in green, the verbs in yellow and the adverbs in red.

Task 3 - Challenge

Continue the story! What will happen next? What obstacles/creatures will the children meet? Do they ever return to normal size?

Things to think about when writing your story...

- Can you include all of the punctuation types we have learnt about in Y2?
- Can you use conjunctions to make your sentences longer? (and, because, but etc...)
- Can you include some contracted words (can't, I'm, we're etc...) and some words with suffixes (quietly, bigger, wonderful)?
- Can you make your story really interesting to read by using exciting vocabulary?
